French Citizens Residing in Calgary
Notified to be Ready for Call

Calgary, Feb. 28.—Native Frenchmen residing in Calgary have received instructions from the home government to be in readiness to return to France at any time within forty-eight hours after receiving final instructions. They are guaranteed expenses on the return journey. This is believed to refer to strained relations in European affairs.

The city has begun taking down all overhanging signs on the streets. The retail merchants decided tonight to take vigorous action to exclude Strate Settlements money which is flooding the country.

The council meets tonight to decide finally upon the question of publicity funds.

INCOME FROM STREET RAILWAY
Toronto, Feb. 27.—The city's total revenue from the street railway last year was $292,656, as follows: Taxes on buildings $12,492, taxes on land $3,369, taxes on cars and other street plants $11,307, percentage of revenue $292,706, roadway rentals $73,982.

APARTMENT HOUSE FOR REGINA
Regina, Feb. 28.—Regina is to have an up-to-date apartment house. Mr. La Chance is preparing plans and specifications for the construction of a 50,000 block on the corner of Cornwall and Twelfth avenues next the Presbyterian church.

Winnipeg, Feb. 27.—The Dominion timber preserves in this province will be declared provincial game preserves by the local government. They will be policed and it is probable that the carrying of firearms therein will be made an offence punishable by fine and confiscation.

FATAL FIRE IN THEATRE

Four Dead and Three Missing as Result of Explosion of an Electric Light

New York, March 1.—A Valparaiso dispatch says that Monday evening fire started in the San Martin vaudeville theatre, in Santiago when the hall was half crowded. A defective electric light exploded behind the scenes, spreading fire to the nearest curtains and in a few moments the whole building was in flames. Four persons are dead and three missing.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—At the Dominion Artillery Association today a couple of officers complained of inefficiency on the part of artillery school at Kingston. Sir Frederick Borden said that the artillery permanent corps cost the people of Canada about one million dollars per year and if it were true that the teaching staff is inefficient the sooner the matter was known the better. He would have an investigation made at once.

MAY BUY GRAIN SEATS
Winnipeg, Mar. 1.—That the Winnipeg grain exchange is steadily attaining a more prominent place in the grain trade is evidenced by an offer made by a syndicate of grain men across the board. The syndicate has offered to purchase sixty-six seats which still remain the property of the exchange. It is a cash offer, and the exchange is asked to fix a price at which it would be willing to sell the seats. Last fall the price of a seat on the Winnipeg exchange was fixed at $2,500 and no less a figure than that could be entertained. Should the syndicate purchase at that figure the total amount paid for seats still in the hands of the exchange would be $165,000.

SKATING TO-NIGHT.
The intermediate hockey match which was to have been played in the Thistle rink to-night has been cancelled owing to the inability of members of the Strathcona team to play. The ice will be utilized for skating.

BANKS TAKE U. S. SILVER

Financial Institutions Collect Silver for Shipment to United States

According to a circular received by the managers of most of the banks in the city yesterday, the Bankers' Association of Canada and the Dominion government have completed an arrangement by which the country is to be rid of American silver and brand new Canadian coin, shining from the mint, will be substituted.

It has heretofore been the custom of all banks in the west and northwest to discount American silver to a greater or less extent, and in some towns, Edmonton being one of them, the discount was as high as twenty per cent. The silver, of course, never paid this discount, and the effect of the levying of the discount was that the American silver continued to float among the merchants of the town where it was taken at par and the Canadian silver, which was gradually displaced by being withdrawn, until today over one-half of the silver currency of Edmonton, and in fact every other western Canadian town, is American.

According to the arrangement made between the Dominion government and the Bankers' Association, all the chartered banks will take American silver at par, and instead of trying to keep it out of their vaults, as heretofore, will endeavor to gather it in. As fast as the coin comes into the banks it will be shipped to the Bank of Montreal in New York, which will act as agent for the government in turning the American silver over to the United States treasury. As soon as the local banks are advised that the silver has been received in New York, they are empowered according to the agreement to draw on the Dominion treasury for an equal amount of Canadian silver, which will be shipped direct from the treasury department. Express both ways will be paid by the Dominion government.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON OPENS

The Bank of Hamilton, A. B. Gray, manager, opened its doors for business in Edmonton today in the premises leased from McDougall & Secord.

The Bank of Hamilton, in getting opened so quickly after determining to establish a branch here, has shown the true western spirit, and incidentally has outstripped several of its rivals who intend opening up, but have not got their arrangements completed yet.

UYING RIGHT OF WAY

H. A. Allison, of Longhead & Bennett's office in Calgary, is in the city today closing up options on the Ninth avenue property required by the Canadian Pacific for their right of way into the city from the high level bridge. The property in question was taken under option by the C. P. R. last July, and the business at the present time is supposed to be merely taking it over. Mr. Allison would give nothing for publication.

SOLD FUR CATCH.

H. P. Leduc came in from Athabasca Landing yesterday and disposed of a small lot of furs by auction. The following were the bids: W. B. Stennett, $295.50; McMillan Fur and Wool Co., $287.75; A. Carruthers & Co., $275.75; J. Ullman, $261.50; Henderson & Co., $256.80.

GAME CALLED OFF.

The intermediate hockey match billed for to-night has been called off and there will be general skating at the rink.

U. S. CONSUL FOR ALBERTA

State Department Preparing for Representation in New Provinces

Washington, March 1.—The State department is fully aware of an almost singular condition that exists in regard to American consular representation in Western Canada and Congress has been asked to provide for the appointment of a consul either in the province of Alberta or Saskatchewan and pending the consular reorganization the bill proposes to establish a consulate in the growing section of the Dominion.

CO-OPERATIVE GRAIN GROWERS' COMPANY

Brandon, March, 1.—An important step was taken tonight at a big Brandon convention, when it was decided to form a Grain Growers Co-operative Company to buy and sell grain. The company will be on the lines laid down by the Grain Growers of Saskatchewan and will be composed of farmers and be known as the "Grain Growers Grain Company, Limited" with shares of $25 each, no person to hold more than four shares. The object is to carry on a grain commission business with headquarters in Winnipeg.

CALGARY'S PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN.

(Alberta)
The Calgary publicity campaign is on and during the next few weeks will be very much in evidence in this city.

A conference was held yesterday afternoon between the publicity committee of the city council and the special publicity committee of the Board of Trade. At the meeting the question was carefully, thoroughly and thoughtfully considered.

The question of raising the money was discussed, and that problem was not regarded as an unusually serious problem. From the present outlook the money will be raised without very much difficulty. The question of the disposition of the money was also considered. This too was regarded as a comparatively easy matter.

After much consideration the conclusion was arrived at that a campaign that would be creditable to Calgary could not be undertaken for less than $15,000, all of which will be spent this year, or within the next twelve months.

The money, when raised, it was suggested, will be spent in this way: Commissioner of publicity. A good man is required to take charge of the campaign. The council has a good man in sight, and negotiations are likely to be opened at once.

Two or three publicity agents one to be stationed in Calgary, another at Moose Jaw and perhaps another further east.

A publicity building. This will be a modest affair, movable, to be placed near the C.P.R. station, to cost not more than $1,000.

Printing, illustrated maps and that sort of thing.

Office expenses, stenographer, office, rent, etc. and last of all advertising which was placed at an uncertain amount, and will be undertaken last of all.

It was suggested that the city contribute $5,000 of this amount, and the suggestion seemed to find favor with the members of the council who were present.

It was suggested that the part the city might take would be to furnish the commissioner of publicity, who might be used by the city for purposes other than directing the publicity.

MANAGER FOR NORTHERN BANK

Dufferin (Ont.) Post: Mr. L. M. McCarthy has resigned the local management of the Bank of Hamilton. Mr. McCarthy severs his connection with the Bank of Hamilton through inviting and encouraging prospects in the west. He has been appointed manager of the Northern Bank at Edmonton, Alberta, and leaves to take charge of his new post in a couple of weeks. He has been nearly two years manager of the Bank of Hamilton here and has by his affable and obliging manner made many friends and materially increased the business of the bank. He is popular not only with the customers of the bank, but with the public generally, and we are sure that all will join with the Post in hoping that he may realize his highest ambition in the distant west.

TRADERS BANK WILL OPEN HERE

Inspector Olds Secures Option to Lease Centrally Located Premises on Jasper Ave.

R. E. Olds, Inspector of the Traders' Bank of Canada, who left on this morning's train for the south, spent two days in the city looking for a suitable location in which to open a branch of the Traders' Bank in this city. Previous to coming to Edmonton, Mr. Olds spent two weeks in Calgary, where he made arrangements for the opening of a branch there.

Up to the present time the Traders' Bank has confined its business to the eastern part of Canada, the Winnipeg branch being the only branch in the west.

Mr. Olds did not definitely conclude arrangements for quarters yesterday, but he took an option on a down-town location, of which it is altogether probable that he will take a long term lease.

The entry of the Traders' Bank will make twelve banks either doing business or about to do business in the city. The Imperial, Montreal, Commerce, Merchants', Union, Nova Scotia, Credit Foncier and Hamilton are already doing business, the latter having opened up this morning. The Northern is preparing to open up and will be doing business in the city not later than the 15th of the month, and the Molsons has leased premises and will commence remodeling the same for banking purposes in a few days.

The Dominion and Traders', both of which have options to lease centrally located premises on Jasper, are the other two which go to make up the round dozen.

When these branches are all opened up Edmonton will have as many banks doing business as Vancouver has and will be exceeded by Winnipeg only in the west.

HEROIC CAPTAIN RESCUES CREW

Saved Crew of Stranded Schooner After Life Saving Crews Give Up

Cape Henry, Va., March 1st.—In the face of great danger of being thrown upon the same beach that had claimed the four masted schooner George A. Grant as a victim Captain Meredith Fairbridge of the Norfolk tow boat Jack Twoky to-day effected one of the most daring rescues that the annals of the Virginian and Carolina coast record. After life savers from Cape Henry and Virginia Beach stations had repeatedly tried to shoot a line over the stranded schooner without success on account of her distance from shore and had given up all hope of saving those on board the vessel because a sixty mile gale was ploughing up the sea that made the launching of a surf boat suicide the little towboat went outside the Cape and safely reached the schooner and rescued the crew.

RED DEER ITEMS
Red Deer, Alta., Feb. 28.—It is reported that John S. Moore, M.P.P., is to return shortly.

The new flour mill commences turning out flour this week. There were seventy-two homestead entries at the Government land office last week, as compared with sixteen for the same week in the previous year. This year promises to eclipse all former years in the matter of immigration.

A dance is being given by fifteen of the bachelors of Red Deer on Tuesday evening at Purdy's hall.

The publicity campaign has been started in Red Deer by the fitting of a long box with glass front for the depot wall. This box is divided into compartments and each compartment contains a sample of a special kind of grain, grown in the vicinity of Red Deer. It is noteworthy that during the ten minutes stop the train makes here there is always a crowd of newcomers staring admiringly at the grain so neatly exhibited.

THE TWO NEW PROVINCES

(From a speech delivered by Sir Gilbert Parker)

It was present with the Governor-General and the Prime Minister at the inauguration of the new provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan at which was given to the two provinces, representing 500,000 square miles of territory, legislative autonomy within the limits set down within the limits set down by the British North American Act of 1867. It would be impossible to forget the thrilling nature of those experiences to the imagination. They represent a progress and a possibility that confounds the stay-at-home Briton. Alberta or Saskatchewan is each five times as large as the State of New York; as Ontario is larger than the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Florida and Ohio combined, and larger than Great Britain and Ireland by 100,000 square miles, as British Columbia and Quebec are larger still. This is not my own calculation. It is the calculation of a New York newspaper, looking with envious eyes on the North, and it was a New York paper that said in September last: "The old figures used to be of America as a bounteous loaf-feeding the world. That picture of her is fading before our eyes. A great change has come. It is not alone that the tide of production slackens, it is that consumption grows even more rapidly. It is not wholly due to a smallish yield that we export more fruits to Great Britain than of wheat to all the world last year, we shipped more value of cotton cloth than of flour."

Fifteen years ago when I crossed British North America to the Pacific, Edmonton had a population of about 300 people, today there is a population of between thirteen and fourteen thousand. It is far up in what was once thought an arid land, a frost-bitten region, impossible to settlers and to cultivation. There was no railway then. Today a branch of the Canadian Pacific connects it with Calgary and runs through a region ranking in fertility and beauty with some of the counties of England. It was on this line that I saw wheat grown near Red Deer, at fifty bushels to the acre. The country looks both civilized and settled. There are public buildings at Edmonton worthy of a great provincial city of England. There are six banks, two daily newspapers, the Hudson's Bay Company's store, which alone cost $15,000, while the best lots were selling at 300 dollars a foot. In the south of the new province is Calgary, a railway junction, manufacturing town with electric railways and a thriving, pushing population; while further south is a country where winter only begins in December, and lasts only six weeks, and where settlers are crowding in to take up land in that dry, sunny, fertile land. The Canadian Pacific railway has projected, and is carrying out a great irrigation scheme in Alberta; but if the latest experience in agriculture, which promises to be permanently successful, become general in all that vast territory which was partly condemned in a late Blue-Book published by the British Board of Trade, an irrigation scheme will not be indispensable to the development of the country. Three years ago 24,000 bushels of fall wheat were grown in Southern Alberta; 2,000,000 bushels were produced in 1905. It will be given over to the production of fall wheat already, however, 150 miles of irrigated lands in Southern Alberta have attracted a great number of American settlers, and a settlement of Mormons has solved the problem of the growth of beetroot and sugar.

Edmonton, once the Ultima Thule, is now only the gateway to what may become a greater north than its own. For the Peace River and the Athabasca country and Alberta itself are warmed by the Chinook winds, and have not the hard winter climate of Manitoba. Five hundred miles beyond Edmonton at Fort Vermilion there is a flour mill built by the Hudson's Bay Company in a district where fruits and many kinds of grain grow freely, with a longer day, if however, a shorter summer than is found further south. But for Edmonton, it is destined to be a great city—An entrepot for the North, which will distribute for China and Japan on the one side and for England on the other, wheat for their needs. Today it does a business of $200,000 a year in furs alone. I know of no more beautiful site for a city than the towns of Edmonton and Strathcona on either side of the great Saskatchewan river, destined to become one great city. English capital has its opportunity there also. There is no reason why the Americans should reap the reward of increased values which will come when the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern have, by providing facilities for transportation, helped to make Edmonton another Toronto.

PLEASED WITH EDMONTON.

(Moose Jaw Signal)

Rev. Mr. Chegwinn, who was sent to Calgary and Edmonton by the promoters of the Saskatchewan College movement, to report on the work of higher education in those cities, returned home on Tuesday afternoon, after an absence of eight days. As the college movement is of great interest to the people of Moose Jaw, the Signal questioned Mr. Chegwinn on his trip, and some of the results of his investigations. He is an old Albertan, having been stationed at Lacombe, between the years '94 and '99. The present trip gave him the opportunity of renewing old associations, which was extremely pleasant. It also opened his eyes to the marvellous development which is taking place throughout Alberta and particularly in the northern part.

Said Mr. Chegwinn, "One would hardly recognize Edmonton. It has changed so much in seven years. It is the marvel of the West. The business portions have been transformed into a thoroughly modern city. The public buildings, banks and hotels are of the finest. There is a general air of permanency; times are prosperous and every one is busy. The Canadian Northern has greatly assisted it. The company has built a magnificent station, and results have warranted the large expenditures that have been made. From the first traffic has been good, and a great development is anticipated this year. Of course I was particularly interested in the work of Alberta College, it being the object of my visit. The success which has attended its work is in keeping with the general progress of the community in which it is located. It was organized in 1903 and incorporated the following year. It is under the control of and sustained by the Methodist Church; but in reality it was built on faith and confidence in the future. Principal Riddell has been its great mainstay; and to his untiring efforts much credit is due."

"The college began with an enrollment of 70 students, now it has 250 in actual attendance, and is taxed to its utmost capacity. The accommodation was doubled last fall but further provision must soon be made for students. The cost of the buildings was $10,000. The institution is situated on a commanding site on the banks of the Saskatchewan, which rises 250 feet from the level of the stream. It is only one block from the main street, and considering that several acres are occupied, it may readily be seen how valuable is the property."

"The curriculum embraces three departments, arts, music and commercial work. In the arts department there are eight teachers. The course embraces the first two years of university work. In the department of music there are six teachers, giving instruction in piano, violin, theory, vocal education and physical culture. Five teachers are engaged in the commercial work."

"In connection with the College a fully equipped residence is maintained, accommodating 70 students. Arrangements are very convenient, everything being done from laundry work to providing board."

"Though the College is controlled and supported by the Methodist church, it is undenominational in its work. It receives the hearty support of all classes, and is attended by students of all denominations. Indeed, the people of Edmonton take great pride in it."

SINGLE TAX.

(Plumas, Man., Standard)

Our neighbor, Mr. Beak, has just returned from a flying trip to the new city of Edmonton. A year ago the council abolished the old system of taxing goods and buildings and now they assess nothing but the land at its full site selling value. The vacant lot or the holder of it puts as much revenue into the treasury as the lot with a fifty thousand dollar building on it. And they have just had their first tax notice under this plan. And our friend Mr. Beak reports that the people are so delighted with this small measure of Single Tax that they would not have anything else. This one simple change, they claim, will make Edmonton the best city in Canada within ten years.

AN APOLOGY FOR MR. HAULTAIN

The Moose Jaw Signal professes to find a sign of the degeneracy of the Bulletin in the view that this journal "depreciates the conduct" of Mr. Haultain. We hasten to assure our Moose Jaw contemporary that so far from depreciating the conduct of that Honorable Gentleman we thoroughly appreciate alike the nature, motive, and purpose of that conduct and our evidence is that the expression of this appreciation draws upon us the castigation of the Moose Jaw Signal. The apology of the Signal for the indifference of Mr. Haultain to the elections in West, Assiniboia, and Prince Albert is that the Haultain movement "is one confined to Provincial politics" which class of provincial politics it would appear is capable of expansion to include Federal general election campaigns in the North West, by-elections in London and North Oxford but which bears no relation to the Federal by-elections in constituencies located within the province in which said movement originated.

THE RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE BOARD OF TRADE

The reorganization plan prepared by the special committee of the board of trade and which was published in these columns some time since, was adopted at the meeting of the board on Tuesday and will come into effect at once. Summarized the plan is to divide the membership of the board into sections according to the classes of business represented by the members and to appoint standing committees to have charge of the various branches of the public business undertaken by the board. The former arrangement is designed to increase the efficiency of the board in furthering the various enterprises represented by its membership and the latter to facilitate the handling of public matters in which the board will continue to take an active interest. The reorganization is significant as a sign of the development of the city and district are bringing to the body and of the readiness with which the members are meeting the changed conditions. Valiant service has been done in the past by this body, and the spirit shown in altering the nature of the organization to meet the changing times is evidence that not less energetic and valuable work may be expected in future.

"CURIOUSLY INTERESTING DATA"

In the hope possibly of cementing the new found friendship between Calgary and Edmonton to the propagation of which holy cause that journal has recently devoted itself to about a column of editorial space the Calgary Herald produces a tabulated mis-statement in which it purports to set forth "The comparative resources of Northern and Southern Alberta." Red Deer being named as the dividing point. Under this head and with propriety which seems in some cases at least questionable appear the items: Butter produced, inland revenue, Customs' revenue, Banks established, Wool, Sheep, Cattle shipped 1901-4. Horses shipped, Government receipts from land, timber, registration, Post office revenues, Elevator capacity, Grain shipped, Grain in store, Cattle shipped 1905.

The figures which accompany the list are quite as novel as the classes enumerated as "resources" and quite as reliable as the Herald is in the habit of publishing. Their general purpose of course is to picture the glorious prosperity of the southern country and the general wreck and ruin which the Herald would be pleased to think is the inevitable destiny of Central Alberta.

The credit for the invention is fastened on "Messrs. Rowley, Darker and Pearce. The Bulletin has not the pleasure of the acquaintance of Messrs. Rowley, Darker and Pearce, but if such firm, association or alliance exists is prepared to give the honors of the performance to the Darker member of the trinity. It is further prepared to endorse the Herald's equivocal complaint that the gentlemen or gentlemen "Have compiled some curious interesting data," curious to the verge of phenomena and interesting beyond sight of the kind we have heretofore beheld. As the originator of a system of lower mathematics the author should be medalized by the society for the prevention of the spread of the truth.

The Herald assures us that these figures are "Authentic drawn from the first sources of information and can be established beyond question." To provide that journal the opportunity to display evidence which it seems to be looking for the Bulletin very courteously begs to present the humble conviction that the Herald or its informant is prevaricating, and that it shall continue to consider such the case until the "first sources" from which the illusion has been drawn are made public.

What the purpose of presenting this alleged comparison at the present time may be we are not told and are left to assume that it is a revival of the traditional policy of the Herald of knocking every Alberta community which does not enthusiastically consent to the reasonably doubtful proposition that Calgary is the only thing west of Montreal, and that the only section of Alberta worth considering is that portion which buys its overalls and "store plug" in the city on the banks of the Bow.

SIR WILFRED SPEAKS ON PROVINCIAL RIGHTS

On Wednesday evening of last week Sir Wilfrid Laurier was tendered a banquet in Toronto by the Reform party of Ontario. The banquet, which was held in Massey Hall, was attended by eight thousand representative Liberals from all portions of the Province and was unquestionably the greatest event of the kind in the history of Canada. Sir Wilfrid spoke at length in reply to the toast to himself, and in the course of his remarks reviewed the history of the inception of Provincial institutions in Alberta and Saskatchewan. In this connection he said:

"Sir, these two names which I have just pronounced, Alberta and Saskatchewan—bring to my mind—and they cannot but bring to my mind—the attempt which was made by some parties last winter, at the time that we were endeavoring to bring those two Provinces into the family of Confederation, to inflict an injury upon that movement and a still greater injury upon the people of Canada. You heard in this Province, and especially in this city, that the Liberal party had become recreant to its professed doctrines, to the doctrine of Provincial rights, and that I in particular had fallen from the high pedestal which I had raised for myself in the year 1896. Well, I may say that if I raised for myself a pedestal in 1896 it was not due to the efforts or support which I received from those who attacked me last winter—hear, hear, and cheer—because those who were against me in 1896 for the policy which I then advocated were the ones who last winter opposed me."

"Sir, it is said that wonders will never cease, and we all admit that this is an age of wonders; but of all the wonders that have taken place in recent years, we have seen here in this Province the most wonderful of them all, the most improbable, and the most incredible, and what can it be? Is it that some new discovery has been made in science which forces us to revise our notions of what existed before? Is it that the St. Lawrence has turned upon its course and is now flowing westward instead of eastward? Is it that the rose is now growing without any thorns? Or is it that the violet is without any perfume? This would be very extraordinary, if anything of that kind had taken place; but something more wonderful than that has occurred. And what is it?"

"It is that all of a sudden the Conservative party has turned and become the champions of Provincial rights! Shades of the departed Conservatives! They would not believe it if they were to come back to this life. The Conservative party has turned and become provincial rights! And not only do they proclaim themselves at the present moment champions of Provincial rights, but they have invented a new expression, and in some parts of the Dominion call themselves "Provincial rights." "The Conservative party are Provincial rights in the same sense that Beau Brummel was a vegetarian. Beau Brummel was asked one day if he was not a vegetarian. "Oh, yes," said he. "I am; I once actually did eat one-half of a pea." That was the extent of Beau Brummel's vegetarianism. If I were to say that one-half of a pea is the extent of the Provincial rights doctrine of the Conservative party I would give them far more credit than they deserve."

"Sir, those gentlemen who call themselves the advocates and the champions of Provincial rights understand Provincial rights about as much as a blind man understands colors, about as much as the deaf and dumb can conceive sound and speech. Take their speeches—and the Lord knows we have had a good many (laughter)—take their newspaper articles—and you know that we have had still more; take their articles in their newspapers and their speeches, and try to get out of them the true doctrine of Provincial rights."

"You might as well try to get a horse out of an empty stable. You could not get the horse out of the empty stable because the horse is not there, and you cannot get the doctrine of Provincial rights from the Conservative party, from their speeches, or from their newspaper articles, because the doctrine is not there."

"And who are these men, I want to know? Who are these men who in the bye-lanes and streets and public squares complained because we had gone back on the doctrine of Provincial rights? Who are they? Who are they? Who are they? Are they not the same men, who, when the rights of the Province of Ontario were attempted to be encroached upon by the Federal government at the hands of Sir John Macdonald and who were registered at every step by Oliver Mowat, aided and abetted in every attempt against the Province?"

"They are the same men today who are proclaiming that we have gone back on our convictions."

"What is—sir, before I go any further—er—what is the doctrine of Provincial rights? How has it been taught to us by the master of Provincial rights, by Sir Oliver Mowat, by the great teacher of Provincial rights, or as it has been taught by Mr. Blake himself? Sir, it is that the distribution of power between the Federal Parliament and the Provincial Legislature—since you will not accept the word Parliament for a Legislature—is it that in the distribution of power between the Provinces and the Dominion, the rights of the Provinces are to be supreme against the rights of the Dominion?"

"If such be the assertion, such, I say, is not the doctrine of Provincial rights as it was taught by Mr. Blake, by Sir John Macdonald, or by Sir Oliver Mowat. Is it that in those classes of powers where there is concurrent jurisdiction given to the Provinces and the Dominion, that the rights of the Provinces are to be supreme over the rights of the Dominion? If such be the assertion, such, I say, is not the doctrine of Mr. Blake and of Sir Oliver Mowat. Is it that the classes of power not given to the Federal Parliament, the residue of power should be placed under the Provinces and the Dominion? I say no. It is an American doctrine, but it is not the true doctrine of Provincial rights."

"The true doctrine of Provincial rights, such as it has been taught to us by Mr. Blake, by Sir Oliver Mowat, is this: That in the matters confided to the Provinces under the authority of the British North America Act, in all matters, I say, confided to the Provinces, the will of the Legislature, the will of the people is supreme authority, and that authority is to be exercised by the Federal power. That is the doctrine of Provincial rights, and that is the doctrine upon which I want to be judged upon this occasion, and upon all occasions."

"Sir, it is a well-known fact that when the Provinces were united Sir John Macdonald was in favor of a legislative and not of a federative union. Some weeks ago I read in a newspaper published in this city—and it was not a friendly article by any means—that if the union had been federative and not legislative, this was due to the weight of Sir George Carter and the Province of Quebec."

"I have only this to say, that if it was true, as asserted in that newspaper, that the union had been made federative, and not legislative by the authority and power of Quebec, I would say that this is not the first occasion, nor the last, in which the Province of Quebec has given good service for the Dominion. But, sir, proud as I am of my Province, I must deny that honor to my Province."

"That the union was legislative, and not federative, was not due to Sir George Carter, but it was due to the man who was the great mover and the great spirit in the work of confederation, George Brown himself. He was the man when the conference met at Quebec, he was the master hand who gave the charter to the union, though I am proud to say that in this he was closely followed by Sir George Carter, who represented at that time the majority of the people of Quebec. Therefore, immediately afterwards, though Sir John Macdonald had been foiled in his efforts to make this a legislative, and not a federative union, it is a matter of record, it is a matter of record, that Sir John Macdonald, true to his convictions, true to his principles, attempted again and again to enmesh in favor of the Dominion upon the powers vested in the Provinces."

"It is a matter of record that upon many, many an occasion, especially he attempted to take away from the Province of Ontario powers which, under the constitution belonged to the Province of Ontario. It is a matter of record also that in his effort he was met

The New Bovril Premium "Little Lady Bountiful"

A beautiful engraving reproduction of Mr. Fred Morgan's charming Oil Painting, size 28½ inches by 19¾ inches, printed on fine plate paper 40x30 inches, with no advertising matter, is given Free to users of BOVRIL who save the coupons, one of which will be found over the neck of every bottle of BOVRIL.

This Bonus Picture must not be confused with cheap premium pictures. It is a work of art worthy a place in the most cultured home. The subject is extremely interesting.

On the grass in a charming woodland spot by a lake a mother and her three beautiful children have spread their picnic table cloth. Everything indicates wealth and health and happiness, the cake and fruit are served on choice china with snowy linen, and both mother and children are daintily attired. Standing apart and eating with wondering, wistful eyes at the luncheon so temptingly spread, are a tiny girl and her little brother, barefoot and evidently less fortunate in worldly possessions. Prompted by her mother, the wee tot of the picnic party, with some star-baked bread and a slice of cake, carried before her is advancing toward the little ragged intruder, tendering with shy and gentle grace her offering. The little barefoot boy seems embarrassed yet delighted by this immediate prospect of good things and is shyly putting out a little brown hand to receive.

Altogether the picture is one of the most charming conceptions, and is sure to please and delight.

TO-MORROW, FRIDAY,

LADIES' BARGAIN DAY

AN HISTORIC PARLIAMENT (Toronto Globe)

The second British Parliament of the present reign was opened yesterday at Westminster by King Edward in person. With the incidents and the result of the general election still in mind, all will agree that the first session of that Parliament is certain to become more than ordinarily historical in the best sense of that term. His Majesty's speech from the throne makes mention of several subjects which have been for years controverted by political parties with acrimony amounting to fierceness and it does not follow that because the new Liberal Government's majority is large the course of its legislation will run any the smoother.

The mention of international and foreign matters is made in the usual conventional manner. The second Anglo-Japanese treaty has already passed into history, and it has been touched upon for the purpose of saying so. Similarly there is recorded in the speech the equally historic treaty between Russia and Japan. The Moroccan Conference at Algiers is now exciting so little interest anywhere that nothing but mere mention of it is expected or required. The dissolution of the Scandinavian Kingdom and the election of a near relative of the British King and Queen to the new throne of Norway is interesting for dynastic reasons, but not especially so to the British nation.

It is quite otherwise with matters relating to the empire in general and to the United Kingdom in particular. There is sure to be keen and bitter controversy over the proposal to grant representative institutions to the Transvaal colony because it is accompanied by an implicit challenge to those who devised and introduced what is called in the speech "an intermediate stage," and by the explicit announcement that until an elected Transvaal Assembly is ready to deal with the question the importation of Chinese laborers will be discontinued in close connection with these topics. It will be indeed surprising if the disquieting thus foreshadowed are kept free from preliminary references to the South African war and the peace to which it led.

The announcement of the Government's Irish policy is skillfully formulated. A measure of "home rule" is unquestionably promised, but we are not told how much. Economies are to be effected in administration; the people of the country are to be more closely associated in the administration of its affairs; and the government is to be carried on in "a spirit regardful of the wishes and sentiments of the Irish people." No one will suspect for a moment that either the King or his Prime Minister will treat this as a mere conventional or perfunctory intimation, and to the carrying of it into effect every member of the Ministry stands explicitly committed. All who take an interest in the Irish question the world over will look forward to the fulfilment of this promise, sharing in his Majesty's hope that it "may conduce to the maintenance of tranquility and good feeling between the different classes of the community."

THE MARKETS.

Wheat—The Deliveries in wheat have been particularly heavy this week, and the rush is nearly over, the farmers having got a good deal of their grain in. The Dowling Milling Co. are buying at 63 for No. 1, 60c for No. 2 and 55c for No. 3.

The deliveries at the Alberta Milling Co. are fair, and the prices quoted by them are for No. 1, 60c, for No. 2, 57c, and for No. 3, 53c. For rejected 40c.

Oats—Oats are very steady at present. Brackman-Ker are offering from 23 to 26. The prices on the city market have remained about the same. A good deal of hay has come in during the past week, and the deliveries in oats are very good. Deliveries in coal are slack. Oats are at 25 to 26.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

New York, March 1.—Thomas Dettman today shot and killed Thomas Fennen and then killed himself during a quarrel over the death of Fennen's young wife, Dettman's sister, whose body at the time of the shooting lay awaiting burial in an adjoining room in the same house. The tragedy occurred in Fennen's room in Brooklyn a short time before the hour set for Mrs. Fen-nen's funeral. Dettman had come to attend the ceremony and quarrelled with his brother-in-law over the surgical operation which had resulted in Mrs. Fennen's death. Relatives of the dead woman refused to state the nature of the operation. Fennen had been married less than a year and was 28 years old. Dettman was 45 and up to about three months ago had made his home with the young people.

A case for the relief committee of the City Council is reported on the Sturgeon road, just a little way across Rat creek. A Mrs. Hinton, who has been an invalid for four or five years, and her husband, who had the misfortune to break his arm early in the winter, and has consequently been laid up ever since, are reported to be in distress. Some of the neighbors, when they learned of the circumstances, raised a little purse among themselves to provide fuel and the necessities of life. The matter will probably be brought to the attention of the relief committee.

IMMIGRATION PROSPECTS

(Winnipeg Telegram)
"Even more discrimination in favor of the better class of immigrants than in the past, will be the policy of the immigration department this year," said J. Obed Smith, immigration commissioner, in speaking with a representative of the Telegram. "The Department makes no prophecies," he continued, "for it often happens in various countries from which we draw our settlers, that unexpected forces interfere with our nicely planned arrangements. For that reason we prefer to be conservative. Nevertheless I am confident that this season will be marked by a larger influx of settlers to the northwest than any season heretofore."

"Invitation plus discrimination is our motto. That the class of immigrants is improving year by year may be observed in a simple way. Just stand at the C. P. R. station as the trains arrive and notice the immigrants as they step to the platform. The hale and the bundle are conspicuous by their absence. Their places are taken by the expensive Saratoga trunk. The amount of baggage that the immigrants carry is surprising; you would think that many of them were tourists. While the majority of them are people with their way to make in the west, yet they have an air of industry and thriftiness about them that is gratifying."

"The number of free homesteads given out last year was the largest on record, being 54,645, an increase of 12,112 over 1904. Of these 9829 were taken up by Americans and 532 by returnees of Canadians, who, in the earlier days, sought their fortune in the United States. Of the immigrants who came to Western Canada last year 46,863 were British, 35,331 were from continental Europe, and 44,421 from the United States. In addition to these Western Canada got 32,700 landseekers and tourists, who are not included under the name of immigrants."

"The inspection to which would-be immigrants are subjected is more strict than most people suppose. They have to pass five tests. They are first inspected by the officer of the British board of trade, and are not permitted to sail if diseased. On board ship they are examined by the ship's surgeon, who certifies under oath that all passengers who land are physically fit and sound. They are again inspected at the port of entry, whether it be Halifax, St. John, or Montreal. Our own physician also meets all trains bringing immigrants to the west, and if any of them are found to be diseased or otherwise unfit they are held. If the ailment is but temporary, they are allowed to proceed when well, but if it be permanent they are sent back at the expense of the transportation company on whose lines they came over."

"While the power of deportation which the department possesses, may not be properly called inspection, yet it is an important factor in keeping the standard of immigrants high. Under the regulations any immigrant found in Canada twelve months after his arrival, who is physically or mentally unfit to become a good citizen, can be deported at the expense of the transportation company. Last year fifty-nine were deported, and a peculiar feature of it was that all but five were British."

"To cope with the expected rush of immigrants this year, it will be necessary to open more immigrant stations. Two have been definitely decided upon, one at Dayland at the eastern terminus of the Wetaskiwin branch of the C. P. R., another at Stettin, the eastern end of the Lacombe branch."

at every step by that staunch friend of the Province, Sir Oliver Mowat, long the leader of the Liberal party in this Province, and I am proud to say my colleague in the Government of Canada. It was the first year of the Administration of Sir Oliver Mowat that he passed the regulation to license the liquor traffic. He relied upon the article of the constitution, article 92, which gave the Province the right to impose a license fee for shops, taverns, etc.

"He was opposed by Sir John Macdonald, who contended that he had not the right to regulate the liquor traffic but that the right belonged to the Dominion Government. I remember very well, and perhaps gentlemen in the Province of Ontario have not forgotten the speech delivered by Sir John Macdonald in a nearby village—Yorkville, perhaps it was—in which he stated that he would teach a lesson in constitutional law to that little tyrant Mowat. At it so happened that Sir John Macdonald, instead of teaching a lesson to Sir Oliver Mowat, received a lesson himself in constitutional law.

"It so turned out that, though Sir John Macdonald was a good constitutional lawyer, no one can deny it, Sir Oliver Mowat was a still better lawyer than Sir John Macdonald. And that was why it was decided by the highest authorities that Sir John Macdonald was wrong and that Sir Oliver Mowat was right, and that the power which had been claimed by Sir Oliver for Ontario really belonged to the Province of Ontario under the constitution.

"That was not all. You gentlemen from this city and Province have not forgotten, I am sure, that some twenty years ago, or thereabouts the atmosphere was thick with the words 'strawman bill.' You heard those words in the legislature. I heard them very often in the Parliament of Canada. Sir Oliver Mowat had undertaken under the constitution to regulate navigation upon the streams and the powers to use the waters for navigation purposes.

"The occasion of the quarrel was that in the valley of the River Ottawa, upon a certain river which I believe is called the 'Mississippi,' there were two lumbermen, each having limits upon that river. The man who had the lower limits put some works upon it for the floating of his logs, but would not allow the upper man to make use of these works, and therefore, if his contentions had been right, the proprietor of the upper limits would have been simple debarred from the use of his property.

"Sir Oliver Mowat took the ground, and the just ground, that all streams are highways, which have to be used for the common good, and that everybody has the right to use them. He passed an Act accordingly; that Act was disallowed by Sir John Macdonald. Again there was a discussion as to who was the better constitutional lawyer, and again Sir John Macdonald was baffled and Sir Oliver Mowat triumphant. This was followed immediately by a third one.

"Under the constitution which we have in the British North America Act the lands of the Province of Ontario belong to the people of the Province of Ontario, and are to be administered by its Provincial Government. But Sir John Macdonald said that in that part of Ontario which has been called ever since 'New Ontario' the land did not belong to the Province, but to the Dominion. And I remember another speech also by Sir John Macdonald in which he states that 'not one acre of land, not one stick of timber, not one lump of mineral,' could be disposed of by the Province of Ontario.

"Again there was another battle of the giants, and again victory went to the little giant, Sir Oliver Mowat. I ask now, upon every one of these occasions, where, when the powers of the Province were in jeopardy, were the champions of to-day in favor of Provincial rights? Where was the Conservative party of that day? Was it behind Sir John Macdonald or Sir Oliver Mowat? You know that every one of those who now shout for Provincial rights was then against Provincial rights. It is said we have gone back upon our promises, upon our principles, because in the constitution which we framed last winter for the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan we inserted a clause which might be considered contrary to Provincial rights. You were told that in doing this we went back on our principles. You were told we were depriving it of the right by which the letter and the constitution belongs to the Province.

"You were told that the matter of education came under the jurisdiction of the Province and not the Dominion. All the rights of jurisdiction between the Province and the Dominion are contained in two articles. In not one of these articles will you find anything with regard to education. Let us look to article 91, which reads as follows: 'It shall be lawful for the Queen, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons, to make laws for the peace, order, and good government of Canada in relation to all matters not coming within the classes of subjects by this Act assigned exclusively to the Legislatures of the Provinces.' There are 28 different subjects which are assigned to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Dominion, and amongst these is not to be found the matter of education. Was there an oversight? Did the fathers of Confederation not think of education? No, gentlemen, there was no oversight. They made a separate article for education. There were three exceptions, and there are therefore modifications put upon the power of the Legislature. And what are these exceptions? No thing in any such law shall prejudicially affect any right or privilege with respect to denominational schools which any class of people have by law in the Province at the union.' There follows another special article with regard to Ontario and Quebec: 'All the powers, privileges, and duties at the union by law conferred and imposed in Upper Canada on the Separate schools and school trustees of the Queen's Roman Catholic subjects shall be and the same are hereby extended to the province of Ontario, of the Queen's Protestant and Roman Catholic subjects in Quebec.' Therefore that is another exception. Sir, there can only be one law for all the subjects of His Majesty the King.

"The denominational school system has been modified by the Legislature since the Province was created, and proved more than once, by a series of modifications and compromises until it has reached such a state of perfection that even Mr. Haultain, the leader of the Conservative party, said of it that, in his opinion, it was so good that if he had the power of a dictator or of a despot he would not change a single iota of it."

"There is something more. It was easy to say last year that we were cooing the new provinces. It was easy to say that we were going back upon our convictions. But since that time the constitution we have given to the new Provinces has been submitted to the people of the Province of Saskatchewan, and there, though the fight was led by the leader of the party, Mr. Haultain, who had been Premier of the Province for several years, the people of the Province of Saskatchewan ratified this legislation by returning 17 supporters of it against eight.

"Yet in the face of this there are still men in the Province of Ontario, and this city of Toronto to say that we had coerced the population of the two new Provinces.

"There is something more: Since this bill was introduced these bye-elections have taken place for the House of Commons in the new provinces. One of these was in Alberta, where my new colleague, Mr. Oliver, went before his colleagues for reelection, and though in the city of Toronto, there were men saying they were eager to take the great opportunity given to them to test the value of our legislation before the people which it affected directly, not one who was so brave as to stand up and fight. Two more bye-elections have taken place in those new Provinces, and in both the Liberal candidates were elected by acclamation. And yet they call us coercionists.

"I reiterate that word: I repeat that the word coercionist will never apply to me.

"I have no objection to criticism and comparison. On the contrary, I invite all to look at my record in 1896 and 1895. What was the issue in 1896. Sir, the new party of Provincial rights, the Conservative party, attempted to force by their majority in the House of Commons upon the Province of Manitoba a system of schools which had been rejected by the Province of Manitoba. Then I said, 'No. You may have the power to do what you propose to force upon the people of Manitoba a system of separate schools which they have rejected. You may have that power, but it is a power which you shall never exercise.' They attempted to force that system upon Manitoba. That was coercion. Was it coercion when we simply applied the provisions of the British North America Act to the new Provinces? There is no comparison.

"Again I can say that in this year, 1906, I can appeal to my fellow-countrymen, of all races and religions, and can ask them to say that I am on exactly the same platform as in 1896. But I am not here to argue the question of schools. Men differ upon a question. I am here simply to ask this of the Reformers of Ontario, that we should carry on the work of confederation as it has been conceived."

Lifebuoy Soap not only cleans but purifies. It is the friend of health and the foe of dirt.

When I go to so much trouble getting the best tobacco in Cuba for the filler of my Pharaoh cigar, it would be very short-sighted to spoil it with a cheap binder and wrapper.

Of course the binder and wrapper are only about 20 per cent. of the cigar, but I do not let that small portion drop below the high standard I have set for the other 80 per cent. of my Pharaoh Cigar.

To hold the filler together I use a Connecticut broadleaf binder. This is the best binder money can buy.

I import direct from Holland a specially selected Sumatra wrapper—a genuine, clear leaf—the finest wrapper grown.

It is this personal care which I give to every detail in the manufacture of my Pharaoh cigar that makes it such a superior smoke. It is a full flavored, palatable, mellow cigar. Price 10c.

None genuine unless branded "Pharo."

AN INTERESTING LECTURE

A large number of young men were present at the regular meeting of the Men's Institute of McDougall church Tuesday evening. Instead of the debate which was to have taken place, Mr. E. T. Bishop delivered a very interesting and instructive address upon the subject of commercial competition and the principle of combines. The address was thoroughly appreciated by the young men. In his remarks regarding commercial competition, Mr. Bishop stated that competition opened up new markets and new methods, and created new demands. National progress was the result of competition. Unrestricted competition results in the survival of the fittest, but not of the best, and this often leads to the formation of trusts. Free competition, but regulated, that is the object to be aimed at. The principle and the operation of combines were the means of great saving in the execution of business, the result of which was increased efficiency. But there is danger that through this trusts are formed, which become of such commercial bulk, through the centralization of capital and control, that they acquire undue power, and become a commercial menace. The meetings of the Institute through the winter months have been most successful, and have proved to be of great benefit to the young men, who have taken a decided interest in the debates and addresses. The topics have all been of a most practical nature, and have been handled with great ability by the various speakers.
